

Section I: Historical Events in Canadian Baseball

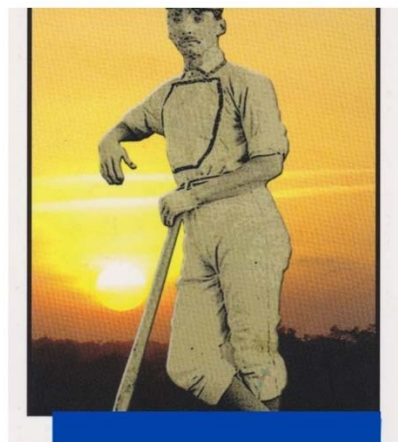

Section I Question 1

This first-day cover issued by Canada Post celebrates the 150th anniversary of the first recorded baseball game played in Canada in Beachville, Ontario. What was the exact date of this historic game?

Section I Question 2

I was born in Port Hope in 1845 and am recognized by the Canadian Baseball Hall of Fame as the first Canadian to play professional baseball. I once attempted to create a baseball game to be played on ice. Who am I and what year did I start playing professional baseball?

Section I Question 3

It was war time. Nonetheless, during the summer of 1941 George Herman "Babe" Ruth arrived in Halifax to conduct a hitting clinic. What year and where did the Babe hit his very first professional home run?

Section I Question 4

Jackie Robinson of the Montreal Royals meets Brooklyn Dodgers manager Leo Durocher during his first spring training camp in Cuba. What year did Robinson break the colour barrier with the Royals? He led the International League in batting with what average? What was the name of the stadium in Montreal where the Royals played?

Section I Question 5

The first MLB game to be played in Canada was at Jarry Park between the Montreal Expos and St. Louis Cardinals. When did this take place and who won? Does anyone remember who hit a three-run homer to win the game?

Section I Question 6

This Expos pitcher tossed the team's first no hitter. Who was he, and in what season did it happen?

Section I Question 7

The Toronto Blue Jays played their first home game in franchise history at Exhibition Stadium on a cold and snowy day. What was the date and what Blue Jays player had 4 RBI?

Section I Question 8

The first MLB All-Star Game to be played outside the USA was in Montreal in what year? Three Expos were voted to the starting line-up, and all are in Cooperstown.

Section I Question 9

Canada first participated in the Olympic Games in 1984 in Los Angeles. Player 1 handed the gold medal-winning Japanese team its only loss of those games. Player 2 was also a member of the Canadian team's pitching staff, and later won the CBHFM's Tip O'Neill award in 1989.

Section I Question 10

I am still the only Blue Jays pitcher to toss a no-hitter, even though I had come very close several times before. Who am I, and how many one-hitters did I pitch before my no-hitter of September 2, 1990?

Section I Question 11

It is generally considered that the greatest trade in Blue Jays franchise history was acquiring Roberto Alomar and Joe Carter. What year did this transaction take place, and who went the other way?

Section I Question 12

During the 4th inning of the 1990 All-Star Game in Chicago both the Blue Jays' and Expos' ace pitchers were on the mound for their respective teams. It was the Blue Jays player's 7th All-Star Game, while the Expos player was participating in his 1st.

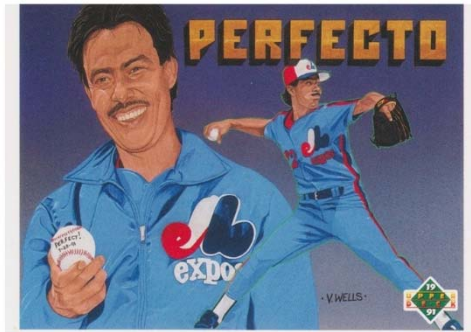

Section I Question 13

Since 1991 I have been the only Canadian in Cooperstown. One of the stats that I am most proud of is my strikeout-to-walk ratio. I am one of only 4 pitchers to have 3,000 career Ks with fewer than 1,000 bases on balls. Can you name me, and the other three?

Section I Question 14

The second All-Star Game to be played in Canada took place in the SkyDome on July 9th, 1991. What Blue Jays player was voted to the starting line-up, and what other Blue Jays player was the winning pitcher in the AL's 4-2 win?

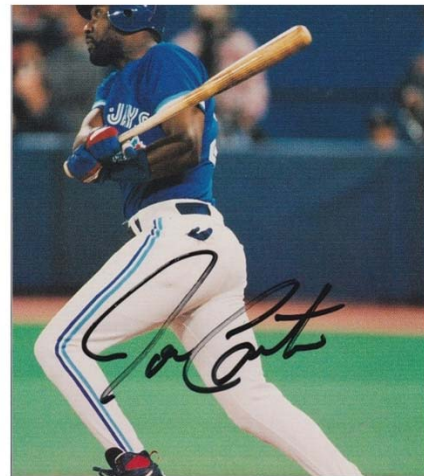

Section I Question 15

Who remains the only Expo or Blue Jay to throw a perfect game? What year did this happen, and what was his nickname? He was the first Nicaraguan to play MLB and was inducted into the CBHFM in 2016.

Section I Question 16

The single most exciting baseball moment on Canadian soil is Joe Carter's World Series walk-off home run. Who was on base when Joe hit his home run? Who was the losing pitcher? Who is the only other player to win a World Series with a home run in the bottom of the 9th inning?

Section I Question 17

We all know this special place, but before it arrived in St. Marys it was located in what two other locations? When did the CBHFM actually open its doors in St. Marys?

Section I Question 18

On April 18, 1946 Jackie Robinson made his professional debut with the Montreal Royals. In the 3rd inning Robinson hit a three-run home run. I was in the on-deck circle watching him circle the bases. My welcome and strong handshake to a smiling Robinson was captured by the Associated Press and has endured as a portrait of racial tolerance. The moment has been described as the "first interracial handshake" in baseball history. Over the years I received recognition for my symbolic role in promoting interracial harmony.

Section I Question 19

An easy one to end this first section. This photo was taken August 1981: two Hall of Fame athletes that both played in Montreal. What were their nicknames?

Section II: 261 Canadians Have Played MLB...

Section II Question 1

As a member of the 1913 Chicago Cubs I am warming up alongside my teammate Al Bridwell. I was the first catcher who could remain squatting and still throw out runners attempting to steal second base. The National Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown started selecting inductees in 1936. The following year two Canadians received votes and I was one of them. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1990.

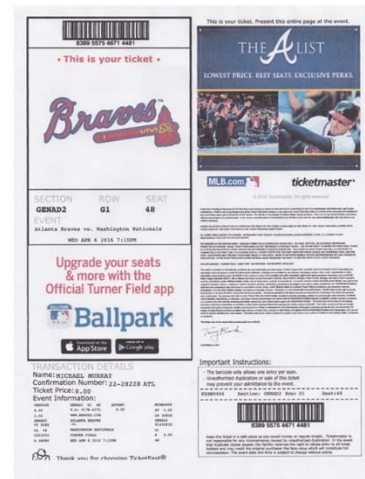

Section II Question 2

Everyone knows that I come from Chatham. However three others grew up in my hometown, and they too made a contribution to MLB. Who are they?

Section II Question 3

The 2016 Atlanta Braves season was the Braves' 20th and last year at Turner Field. I was their Opening Day 1st baseman.

Section II Question 4

The two bat boys were 16 years old while Al Kaline (centre), Bob Miller (right) and I were 19 year-old rookies with the Tigers in 1954. I grew up in Windsor. Al Kaline and I were roommates for five seasons, probably because we were called up to Detroit at the same time. I tell people "I went on to have a checkered career, while he went on to the Hall of Fame."

Section II Question 5

My no-hitter celebration with teammates Eddie Lyons, Kenny Chapman, Dick Gernert and Pete Daley. On July 29th, 1950 while pitching for the Louisville Colonels I pitched a no-hitter against the Milwaukee Brewers, facing only 29 batters. I made my major league debut in a relief appearance for the Baltimore Orioles on April 11, 1955 at the elder age of 32.

Section II Question 6

In 2005 I set a ML record by starting the season 8-0, the most consecutive wins in relief to start a career.

Section II Question 7

In this March 2nd, 1933 photo I'm in the middle with two other rookies (Paul McCarren and Mike Kreevich) at the Chicago Cubs spring training camp on Catalina Island, California. On August 26, 1938, I had a moment of glory that very few professional ballplayers have ever had when I hit 5 home runs in 6 at-bats. Unfortunately it was not done in the majors, but with the Hickory Rebels of the Carolina League. I enjoyed a very successful rookie year for the Cubs: in only 66 games I batted .238 with 13 HRs and 50 RBIs.

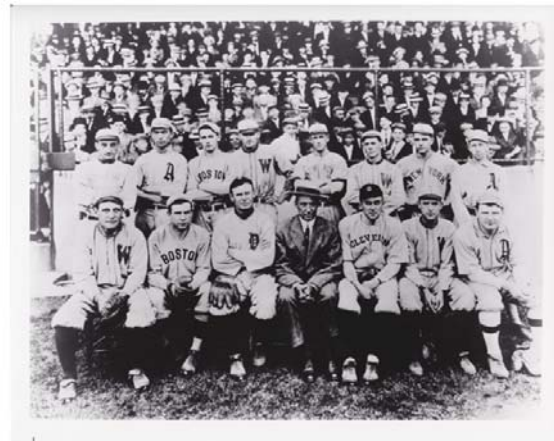

Section II Question 8

On May 29, 2017 I became only the 5th Canadian to have 5,000 career MLB at-bats. Who are the other four players and can you name them in order?

Section II Question 9

I'm back row, 2nd from right, in this 1911 Addie Joss benefit game photo. During my minor league stint with the Southern League's Atlanta Crackers in 1908, I accidentally invented the "emery" or "scuff" ball pitch. With the emery pitch in my arsenal, I would win 26 games as a rookie for the New York Highlanders in 1910. My 26 wins as a rookie made me only the third pitcher in MLB history to win 20 games and strike out at least 200 batters (Christy Mathewson and Grover Cleveland Alexander). I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1987.

Section II Question 10

In this 1907 Pittsburgh Pirates team photo, I'm in the middle of the front row. I hit a double for the final hit in the last game played at Pittsburgh's Exposition Park on June 29, 1909, and the following day I had the first hit in the new Forbes Field. Since 1934 I have been the only Canadian to be a full-time MLB field manager. I was the first baseball player to be elected into the Canadian Sports Hall of Fame in 1958, and was inducted into the CBHFM in 1987.

Section II Question 11

I'm seen here warming up our starting pitcher with the Chicago Cubs in 1918. After I retired I got into the coaching ranks, and was a Boston Red Sox coach for 14 seasons from 1933 to 1946, the longest consecutive-year coaching tenure in Bosox history.

Section II Question 12

I began the 2016 season with Tennessee and received a mid-season promotion to the Iowa Cubs of the AAA Pacific Coast League. On August 19 the Cubs promoted me to the Major Leagues. I made 11 appearances for the Cubs in 2016, and finished 1-0 with a 1.13 ERA. I was added to the roster for the 2016 National League Championship Series, but was replaced by Kyle Schwarber on the roster for the 2016 World Series.

Section II Question 13

I started the 2004 season on the Blue Jays' roster and made my MLB debut on April 7th. I appeared in 16 games with 1 HR and 6 RBI before leaving to join Team Canada at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. Upon my return I never played in another MLB game.

Section II Question 14

I was a member of the 1901 Boston Americans, one of the original eight teams that formed the American League. On Friday April 26th, 1901 I was the very first Opening Day starting pitcher in franchise history, even ahead of my teammate Cy Young. The team would eventually become known as the Boston Red Sox. In a three-season career, I posted a 20–16 record with a 3.01 ERA in 48 appearances, including 37 starts, with 32 complete games.

Section II Question 15

With only 5 games left in the regular season I broke my left ankle as a Boston Brave trying to score from second base, and ended up missing the entire 1948 World Series. In 1941 I was the first player from the American League to become a member of the 20-20-20 club when I hit 20 or more doubles, triples and home runs in the same season. I was the first player in MLB history to hit a home run in all of the AL and NL ballparks. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1988.

Section II Question 16

In this 1937 New York Yankees team photo, I'm the last player in the middle row. In 1935, I succeeded Babe Ruth as the Yankees' right fielder — and also inherited Ruth's fabled no. 3 uniform. Over the next eight seasons, I hit over .300 five times, twice topped 100 RBI, played in five World Series, and made the AL All-Star team in 1936 and 1939. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1983.

In this 1955 St. Louis Cardinals spring training photo, I am in the front row, 3rd from the right. My career as a player, coach and manager started in 1946 and spanned five decades. After my playing days were over I forged a long career as a minor league manager, and served as a bench coach with the NY Mets and Atlanta Braves. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1992.

In this 1980 Houston Astros spring training photo, I am in the 2nd row, 5th from the left. I played 14 seasons for the Astros. During the 1980 NLCS I set a record with a .526 batting average, the best performance ever by a hitter in a play-off series up to that time. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1995. Another Canadian (from New Westminster, BC) played parts of four seasons with me on the Astros team; who was he?

Player 1: On April 17, 1964, in the team's initial game at Shea Stadium, I led off for the Mets in the bottom of the first inning, and singled off Bob Friend in the third inning, to become the first Mets player ever to bat at home and the first player to get a hit at home.

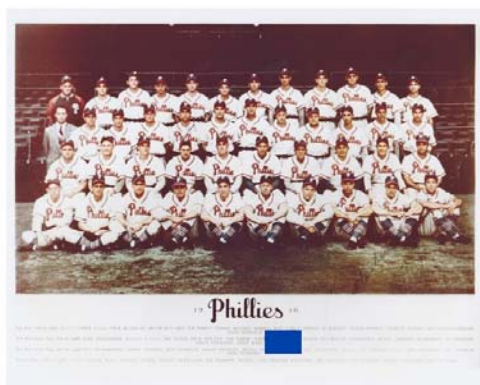

Section II Question 20

In this 1962 Minnesota Twins team photo, I am in the top row, 2nd from left, between Harmon Killebrew and Jim Kaat. I was born in Lévis, Quebec and was one of four pitchers from Canada, along with Ron Piché, Claude Raymond and Ken MacKenzie who all played for the 1959 Louisville Colonels. In 1962 I appeared in 32 games for the Twins, 4 as a starter and 28 in relief; I also attained a .250 batting average, very respectable for a pitcher.

Section II Question 21

That's me on the right, ready to take batting practice with the 1946 New York Yankees. In the 1946 and 1947 seasons I was fortunate to room with a very young Yankees catcher, Yogi Berra. In 1947 I opened the season as the starting right fielder with the Yankees, but suffered a leg injury and underwent season-ending surgery. It was extremely disappointing for me being a non-roster player as the Yankees defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers in 7 games for the 1947 World Series. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1999.

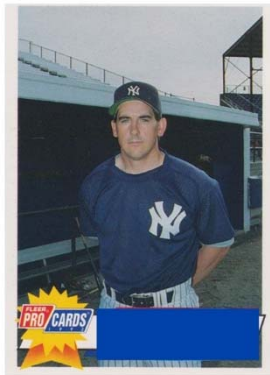

Section II Question 22

In this 1946 Philadelphia Phillies team photo I am the last player in the 2nd row. My career totals were 206 games played, 161 as a pitcher. This included a 40–51 record, 99 games started, 43 complete games, 4 shutouts, 32 games finished in 777.1 innings. As a hitter I was well above average for a pitcher, and was used many times a pinch hitter. My lifetime average was a respectable .262 with 3 home runs. My best season was 1943 at age 36, in which I was an All-Star with an 11–6 record and a 2.90 ERA. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1986.

Section II Question 23

I am the only player to hit two home runs in my first two plate appearances in the Cleveland Indians franchise history. On September 3, 2011, I also hit for the cycle in a game against the Houston Astros, becoming only the 7th Milwaukee Brewer to do so.

Section II Question 24

I joined the New York Yankees organization in 1990 as a coach for the Ft. Lauderdale Yankees. I held a variety of positions within the Yankees farm system until 2008, when Joe Girardi appointed me his bench coach. Each time Girardi has had to miss a game I replaced him as the manager. I played for Team Canada at the 1984 Olympic Games.

Section II Question 25

In this 1948 Philadelphia Athletics team photo, I am the 2nd player in row two. Also in the photo is another Canadian, Phil Marchildon, 3rd row second from the right. Returning from service with the Canadian Army after WWII, I threw a 1-0 no-hitter against the St. Louis Browns at Shibe Park. My no-hitter was the first by an Athletics pitcher since 1916, and I remain the only Canadian to throw a 9-inning no-hitter in MLB. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1985.

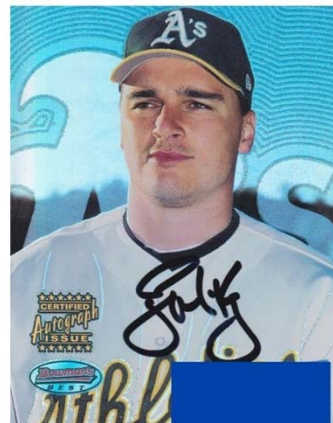

Section II Question 26

The 70th midsummer classic All-Star Game was played in Boston's Fenway Park with a Canadian on both rosters. One was voted into the starting line-up batting just ahead of McGuire and Sosa. The other, a pitcher from the Texas Rangers, pitched a scoreless 7th inning for the winning AL side.

Section II Question 27

On December 13, 2007, I was implicated for use of banned performance-enhancing substances on page 197 of the Mitchell Report.

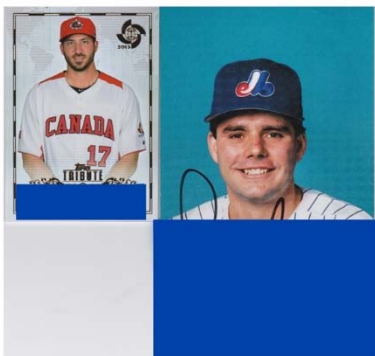

Section II Question 28

In this 1945 Philadelphia Athletics team photo, I am the 2nd player in the back row. Poised to join the ranks of the MLB pitching elite, I was called for military duty in 1942 and served in the Royal Canadian Air Force. In August 1944, my plane was shot down and I was a prisoner at the infamous Stalag Luft III in Germany. After returning home I immediately rejoined the Athletics. I was elected to Canada's Sports Hall of Fame in 1976, into the CBHFM in 1983, and into my home town Penetanguishene Sports Hall of Fame in 1987. I was later inducted into the Ontario Sports Hall of Fame in 1996.

Section II Question 29

Jose Bautista and I both played our college baseball at Chipola College. I also attended the same high school as Eric Gagne.

Section II Question 30

Player 1: I was the first player from the province of Quebec to be selected in the first round of a major league draft in 2007.

Player 2: While a Florida Marlins coach, I was the first Quebecer to win a World Series ring in 2003.

Section II Question 31

In this 1903 Chicago Cubs team photo, we are located 2nd row 1st player, 2nd row 3rd player, and 3rd row 3rd player. Since 1884 there have been 22 instances of 3 Canadians playing on the same team. Name the three players on this Cubs team.

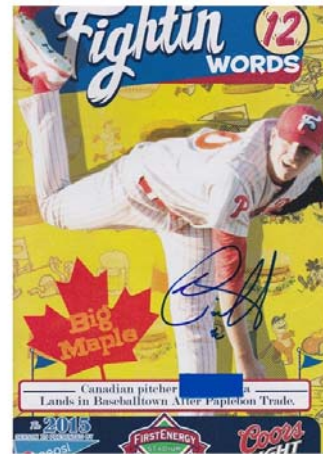

Section II Question 32

Montreal Royals players awaiting their turn for batting practice in 1937. I am on the far right. I played four MLB seasons back in the 1930s but am mostly remembered for my years with the Royals. My contract with the Royals was the first ever written in French in the history of professional baseball. Along with six fellow Quebec major leaguers I threw out the ceremonial first pitch before the inaugural Expos game at Olympic Stadium on April 15, 1977. In 1969 I was the first inductee into the Norwich Sports Hall of Fame. In 1995 a new baseball park, Dodd Stadium, was built for the AA Norwich Navigators, and it sits on a street named after me.

Section II Question 33

I was drafted by the Washington Nationals in the 4th round of the 2013 MLB draft. On July 28, 2015 the Nationals traded me to the Philadelphia Phillies for Jonathan Papelbon. On April 30, 2017 I made my MLB debut against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

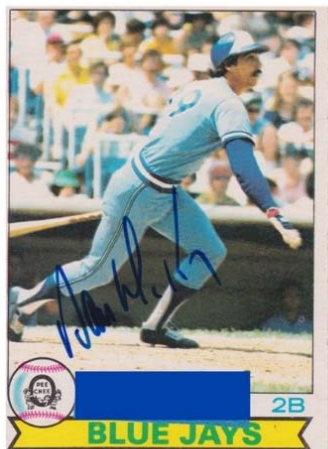

Section II Question 34

I was drafted by the Phillies in the 2011 MLB draft after having previously been drafted by the New York Mets. On July 29, 2017 I made my MLB debut, coming in to replace Nick Pivetta. I was selected as a member of Team Canada at the 2017 World Baseball Classic. Before being called up to the Phillies I had a 1.41 ERA in 39 appearances at AA and AAA. I struck out 65 and walked just nine in 57 $\frac{1}{3}$ innings.

Section II Question 35

I was only the eighth Canadian to reach the major leagues, and one of only three to come from PEI, along with Vern Handrahan and Henry Oxley. I didn't play for as many teams as Matt Stairs did, but I did dress for eight different teams in my 14 year career. I was also a manager and umpire for short periods. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 2011.

Section II Question 36

I was the Blue Jays starting third baseman for their first ever game on April 7, 1977, and had two hits in Toronto's 9-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 2001.

Section II Question 37

The New York Giants taking the field on opening day of the 1944 season. I was born in Vermilion, Alberta, and am one of many ballplayers who only played in the majors during World War II. I played 3 seasons with the Giants in each of the 3 outfield positions, and I wore 3 different uniform numbers.

Section II Question 38

In this 1906 World Series champion Chicago White Sox team photo, I am the last player in the middle row. I was born in Saint John, New Brunswick. While playing shortstop in my 1904 rookie season for the Boston Americans, I committed six errors during a 13-inning game, becoming the only 20th century major league player to record six errors in a game. I was a member of the White Sox team that won the 1906 World Series over the Chicago Cubs in six games.

Section II Question 39

We were teammates on Team World at the 2017 MLB Futures Game during the mid-summer classic in Miami. We were representing the San Diego Padres and Atlanta Braves respectively.

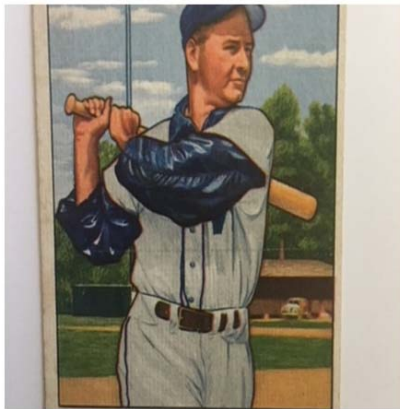

Section II Question 40

In this 1957 Philadelphia Phillies team photo I'm in the back row, 4th from the right. On August 1st 1957 as a member of the Phillies I established a new world record for the longest throw of a baseball. You must know who I am, but how far did I toss it?

Section II Question 41

This postcard shows the old Yankee Stadium from 2008, the last year before it was torn down. For the 2008 All-Star game in Yankee Stadium three Canadians were selected. One was a catcher, one was a pitcher, and one was an infielder who also won the home run derby.

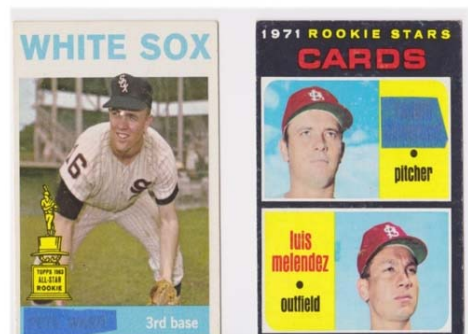

Section II Question 42

I am the nephew of Clark Griffith, who was inducted into Cooperstown in 1946 while I was inducted into the CBHFM in 2007. I was part of an extended family that owned the Washington Senators and Minnesota Twins franchises for almost 65 years.

Section II Question 43

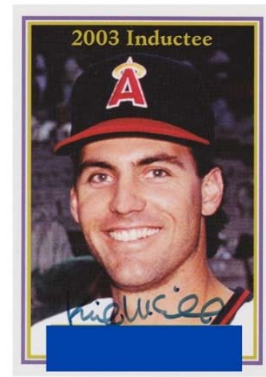

Player 1: In 1962 I was named The Sporting News AL Rookie of the Year, finishing second to only Carl Yastrzemski in hits.

Player 2: On the strength of 12 wins and 10 complete games in 1971, I was named The Sporting News NL Rookie Pitcher of the Year. We are both CBHFM inductees.

Section II Question 47

4 is certainly my lucky number as I was drafted by the California Angels in the 4th round of the 1982 MLB draft, and by the Winnipeg Jets in the 4th round of the 1981 NHL draft. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 2003

Section II Question 48

When the first professional major baseball league was formed in 1871, I was there, at the age of 29, to play on this Rockford Forest Citys team. History has credited me with possibly employing the first slide in an organized baseball game, while playing for the 1866 Rockford Forest Citys of the National Association of Base Ball Players.

Section II Question 49

In this 1891 Boston Reds photo, I was the manager and am the only one not in a uniform. The Smithsonian Book on Baseball records that "in 1882 with the Philadelphia Athletics while playing shortstop I became the first player to use padding in a glove when I did so to protect my injured hand...I used the glove even after my injury had healed. By the following season, almost every professional player was using a padded glove." I was inducted into CBHFM in 1989.

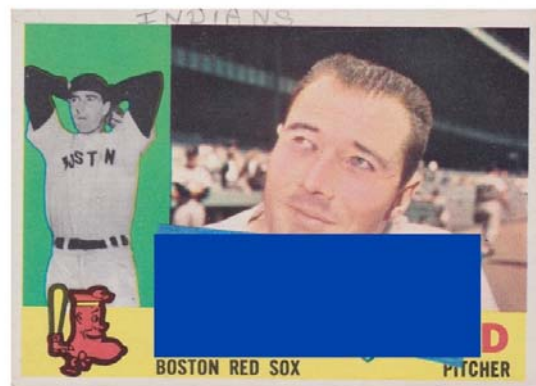

Section II Question 50

In this 1905 Cleveland Naps photo, I'm the last person in the second row. I was one of the earliest to use shin guards at the catcher's position in professional baseball. I caught the perfect game Addie Joss tossed against the Chicago White Sox on October 2, 1908, and was selected by Ty Cobb as one of the catchers on his all-time team.

Section II Question 51

On July 20th, 1958 I made my MLB debut with the Boston Red Sox, pitching a scoreless ninth inning. Unfortunately it was overshadowed by opposing pitcher Jim Bunning, who tossed a no-hitter for his Detroit Tigers. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 1988.

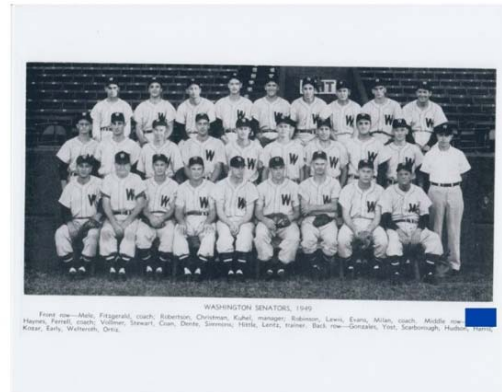

Section II Question 52

In this 1979 New York Yankees photo, I'm in the back row at the far right. After a very short minor league career, I started my post-playing career as the batting practice pitcher for these Yankees. It was a stepping stone on my way to becoming a full-time MLB general manager. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 2012.

Section II Question 53

In this 1949 Washington Senators photo, I'm the 1st player in the middle row. Also on this team was Sherry Robertson, in the 1st row 3rd from the left. My MLB debut was September 24th, 1942 with the Cleveland Indians, while my last game fell on May 6th, 1951. My most notable campaign was 1949, when I led the AL in games lost with 17; however my pitcher's fielding % was a perfect 1.000.

Section II Question 54

Originally published in the Boston Herald on September 22, 1908, this photo shows me talking baseball with Nap Lajoie. I had a rather non-descriptive playing career and moved into the coaching ranks. I was manager of the Boston Red Sox in 1908 and 1909. After the 1909 season I was released, despite having led the Sox to a third-place finish. Shortly afterwards I was hired by the crosstown rival Doves. After 7 seasons managing in the minors I began coaching at the college level in 1916 for Colby College in Maine, and then for Tufts University in Boston. In 1925 I was hired to coach at Harvard University where I ended my coaching career.

Section II Question 55

I am one of only three players from Nova Scotia to make the major leagues. I made my debut on September 5, 1991 with the Toronto Blue Jays before moving on to Oakland and Minnesota. After retiring I was the batting practice pitcher for the Baltimore Orioles. In 2009 the Blue Jays hired me as pitching coach for their Short-Season Auburn Doubledays. From 2010 to 2014, I was a part of the Class A Lansing Lugnuts coaching staff. In 2015 I was promoted to the High-A Dunedin Blue Jays, and am currently (2017) with the Jays' AA New Hampshire Fisher Cats.

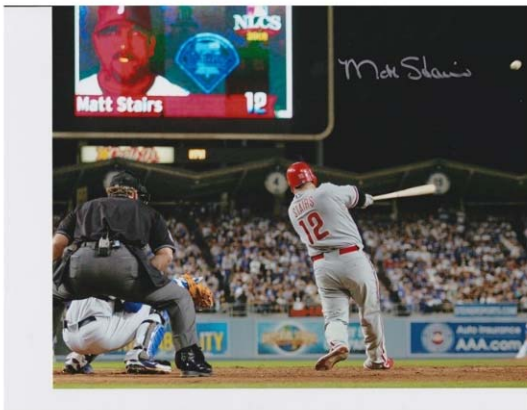

Section II Question 56

In this 1884 Philadelphia Quakers introduction of players, I am the 3rd player from the right. I was born in Port Stanley and came up to the big leagues as a pitcher for these Quakers. Six years later I returned to the major leagues, this time as an outfielder. As the everyday left fielder for the 1890 Cincinnati Reds, I finished sixth in the NL with a .312 batting average, hit 4 home runs, and drove in 67 runs. I also ranked sixth in the league with 26 doubles. Unfortunately that was not enough and I was released at season's end.

Section II Question 57

In a win over the Baltimore Orioles on June 17, 2016 I hit three home runs, joining Joey Votto, Justin Morneau and Larry Walker as the only Canadian players to hit three in a game. I was the first to do it while with a Canadian team.

Section II Question 58

I played for more teams than any position player in MLB history (13 teams, but 12 franchises, as I played for both the Expos and Nationals); who holds the record for pitchers and all players with 13 different teams? I also hold the all-time MLB record for most pinch-hit home runs with 23; what former Blue Jay is second with 20?

Section II Question 59

Seven Canadians have played 15 or more seasons in the major leagues. Can you name them?

Section II Question 60

In 1884 there were 32 Canadians playing in the major leagues. The 2nd best year was 2011, with how many players?

Section III: A Little Expos and Blue Jays Fun

Section III Question 1

On April 13th, 1984 while a member of the Montreal Expos I reached an unbelievable milestone that only one other player in MLB history had accomplished. Name the milestone and the other player.

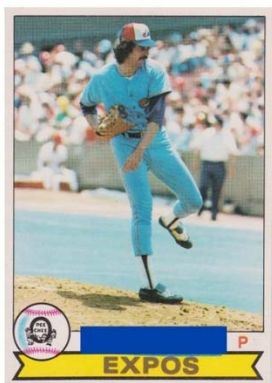

Section III Question 2

I was selected in the 1977 MLB draft by the Toronto Blue Jays and made it to the Jays in 1979 while still in college. I am still the youngest player in team history to hit a home run, at 20 years and 77 days. After three years with the Blue Jays, I decided to pursue a career in basketball and was chosen in the 1981 NBA draft by the Boston Celtics, for whom I am currently the GM and President of Basketball Operations.

Section III Question 3

In the 2016 season J.A. Happ became the 6th different Blue Jays pitcher to record 20 wins in a season. Who were the other five?

Section III Question 4

I was the only 20-game winner in Montreal Expos franchise history.

Section III Question 5

Most people would answer Tim Lincecum, but I'm the one who stole a franchise-high 97 bases in my only season with the Expos, thus becoming the first player to have led both leagues in steals. I also became only the 5th player in MLB history to steal 90+ bases in a single season.

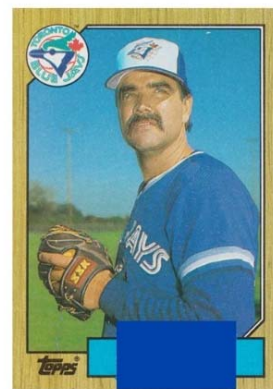

Section III Question 6

Down the 401 in Toronto I was the first Blue Jays speedster to reach 50+ stolen bases in a season, ending the 1982 season with 54. Ironically I retired as an Expo in 1989. I threw out the first pitch of a Blue Jays ALCS game in 1992.

Section III Question 7

In 1984 with the Blue Jays, I came up just one win short of Luis Arroyo's 1961 record for most consecutive wins by a reliever in a single season. I went 11-0 that season.

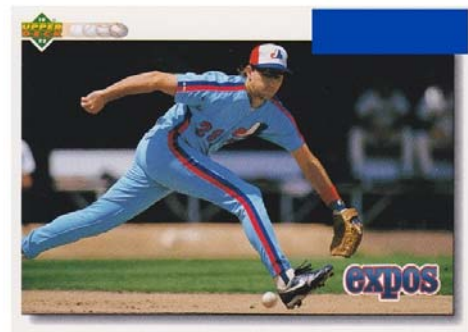

Section III Question 8

Two of the Blue Jays' top prospects were selected to play in the 2017 MLB Futures Game. Both of their fathers played in the majors and participated in multiple all-star games.

Section III Question 9

Even though it has been 13 years since the Expos moved to Washington, I still hold 6 franchise batting records: G, AB, hits, total bases, doubles and RBI. I was inducted into the CBHFM in 2014.

Section III Question 10

I made history on August 17, 2001 against the Texas Rangers when I became only the second Blue Jay in their franchise history to hit for the cycle. The only other Blue Jays player to hit for the cycle was Kelly Gruber, who just happened to be in attendance that day.

Section III Question 11

I am best known for being the very first player selected by the Toronto Blue Jays in the 1976 MLB expansion draft. My .310 batting average in 1977 set a new standard for players on a first year expansion team. I was voted by the Toronto media as the Blue Jays team MVP in that inaugural season.

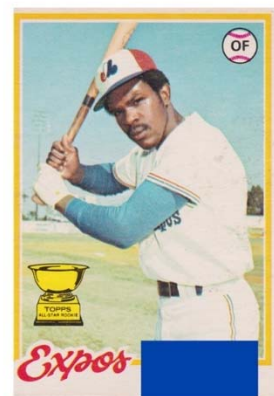

Section III Question 12

On May 25, 2016 against the New York Yankees, Russell Martin and Michael Saunders accomplished what feat for the first time in MLB history?

Section III Question 13

I am 1 of only 4 players to have hit 400+ home runs with 300+ stolen bases. The others are Willie Mays, Barry Bonds and Alex Rodriguez.

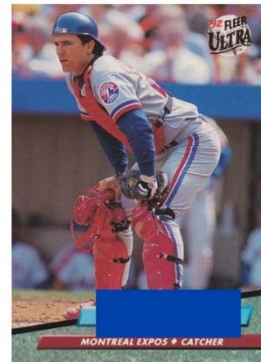

Section III Question 14

The first 5 years of my 10 years as a major leaguer were spent with the Montreal Expos. I went on to manage two World Series championship teams.

Section III Question 15

There have been 81 position players that played for both the Expos and Blue Jays. When you combine my games played for these two franchises, I had a total of 1,183, making me the leader in this category.

Section III Question 16

I split my eighth and final MLB season in 1985 between the Expos and Blue Jays. I started 42 contests behind the plate for the Expos before being released on August 22. I was then signed by the Blue Jays on September 1. I saw action in six games for the AL East-winning Blue Jays that September. I was also a member of the 1979 World Series champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

Section III Question 17
Justin Smoak played 1st base during this past summer's All-Star Game in Miami. What two other Blues Jays also played 1st base in previous All-Star Games, in 1993 and 2000?

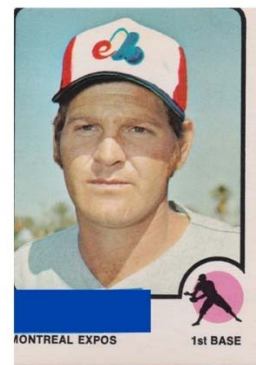

Section III Question 18

I am the only player to represent both the Montreal Expos (1973) and Toronto Blue Jays (1977) at the All-Star Game. My season-ending stats for the Expos that year were .298 with 17 HR and 49 RBI in 142 games; with the Blue Jays they were .279 with a team-leading 19 HR and 64 RBI.

Section III Question 19

On July 13th, 1973 as a member of the Montreal Expos I became only the 2nd player in MLB history to hit pinch hit home runs in both games of a doubleheader when I did so against the Atlanta Braves. The only other player to accomplish this feat was Cooperstown inductee Joe Cronin.

Section III Question 20

I hold the MLB record for most 10+ strikeouts games in a single season. How many such games did I have in 1999?

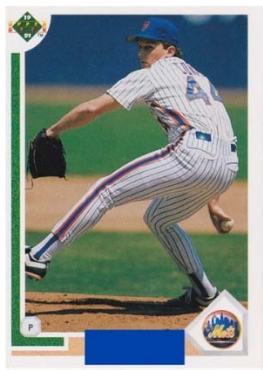

Section III Question 21

On July 17th, 1989, the Toronto Blue Jays beat the California Angels in both ends of the first doubleheader ever played in the SkyDome. I picked up the wins in both games in relief, while my teammate, a CBHFM inductee, saved both contests.

Section III Question 22

At the trading deadline in 1992 the New York Mets traded me to the Blue Jays. My 47 Ks with the Blue Jays combined with my 214 Ks with the Mets made me the NL leader, and the 261 Ks were a new career high. During the Blue Jays' run to the World Series championship that year I went 1-1 with a 3.22 ERA during the post-season.

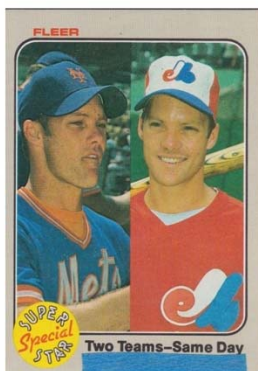

Section III Question 23

On August 23, 2011 I was traded to the Toronto Blue Jays in exchange for Aaron Hill and John McDonald. I was set to debut for the Blue Jays the next day but I was stopped at the border because I forgot my passport. Jose Canseco and I hold the Blue Jays franchise record for most strikeouts in a single season with 159.

Section III Question 24

On August 4, 1982, I became the only player in MLB history to get hits for two different teams in two different cities on the same day. After I had driven in two runs with a single in the third inning for the NY Mets in an afternoon game at Wrigley Field against the Chicago Cubs, I was replaced and told I had just been traded to the Montreal Expos. I rushed to Philadelphia in order to be with my new team, and hit a seventh-inning single. Interestingly, the two pitchers I hit safely against, Ferguson Jenkins of the Cubs and Steve Carlton of the Phillies, are both in the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Section III Question 25

In my MLB debut with the Toronto Blue Jays on August 7, 2010 I hit a two-run home run on the first pitch, becoming the 28th player to homer on his first pitch. In my following plate appearances, I hit a double, a single and then a solo home run. I became only the 5th player ever to hit two home runs in his first MLB game. In addition, I became the first person in the modern era with four hits and two home runs in a debut, a feat performed 121 years earlier by Columbus Solons catcher Charlie Reilly.
