

BASE BALL MATCH.—The match between the Maple Leaf Club and the Barton and Flamboro' nine, for the silver cup presented by Mr. R. S. Beasley, resulted in victory for the latter by the odds of seven. The game was hotly contested throughout, and up to the close of the seventh innings the score was very close, the Maples, however, having a slight advantage, and their chances of securing the prize were decidedly in preference with the spectators. On the two last rounds the agricultural boys walked in with an energy that was startling, doing up the Maples for the eight innings with a score of 1, and their gain in the last innings was contained in a highly odorous naught (0!). The rustics, however, in the meantime did a little figuring on their own side, and increased their score by eleven, so winning the match by a margin of seven. Waiving the usual profusion of excuses, no doubt the Maples, and the large concourse of spectators present, will be inclined to admit the defeat gracefully, and acknowledge that Barton and Flamboro' were a little the strongest competitors they have encountered the present season. According to the conditions of the match, the prize cup became a trophy to the player on the winning side making the highest individual score. The ownership therefore remains to be decided between W. F. Miller, of Flamboro', and J. Snider, of Barton, who were tie on the highest count. The following is the score complete:
