

There were very few Canadian periodicals that reported on baseball during that time period and that survive (more than half of the games I've tracked are from the Hamilton papers alone; as we all lament, few papers survive from Woodstock, London, Guelph etc). Note that every Canadian game from 1856-1860 comes from American sources: I have yet to find any decent accounts in any Canadian source (e.g. the account of the May 24 1859 game, in Hamilton, in the Times, merely states: "The Toronto Club carried off the prize yesterday.").
