

well contested one and was in favor of Ingersoll up to the last inning, when a turn was experienced, placing Woodstock ahead. The playing of the Ingersoll nine—with one exception—was superior to anything we have before seen. All the Woodstock nine did well as usual. We took special notice of C. Pascoe's playing at first base, and are of opinion that his superior is not to be found on the continent. With pleasure we saw the splendid fielding of both sides, and the play at bases, with one exception—that on the Ingersoll side—was as good as could be wished for. We are forced to be of the opinion that the game would have resulted far differently had the second base man of the Victorias and the umpire done their duty. We hope they will be more careful in the selection of their players in future. The difference at the close of the game was eight runs in favor of Woodstock.
