

Base Ball.

The base ball match on Dominion Day, between the Tecumsehs and Young Canadians, of Woodstock, formed decidedly the most prominent and popular feature of the day's programme, such as that programme was. There were some four or five thousand people on the ground, including many ladies, all of whom seemed to take a lively interest in the game, which resulted in favor of Woodstock by 34 runs. The score stood—Woodstock, 62; London, 28.
