

greatest credit for the indomitable pluck and endurance which they displayed in rescuing such a forlorn hope. The Beavers played well and steadily throughout the game and took their defeat like Trojans. They are thorough good fellows and worthy opponents, and acted in a most gentlemanly and hospitable manner towards the Brants, who were not insensible to their kind and liberal treatment. At Mr. Beemers first class hotel the Brants were entertained by their friends, and the dinner and tea which our jovial host spread before them would have tempted the most fastidious epicure. Mr. Nelson Green, of the Beaver Club again performed the onerous duties of umpire and gave entire satisfaction to both sides by his impartial and just decisions. The following is the score:
